TOLEDO YACHT MISSING AFTER WEEKEND STORM

750 Detroit Excursionists Taken Off South Bass Island Today

OTHERS MAROONED ON LAKE ISLANDS

Trees, Utility Poles Blown Down As State Is Swept by Rain

(By Associated Press)
TOLEDO, June 27.—A Toledo yacht with five aboard was missing today after a weekend rain storm marooned nearly a thousand persons on Lake Erie islands, contributed to death on Ohio highways and drenched much of the state.

Archie Snell of Toledo and four unidentified crew members were aboard the sailing yacht Lillith II of the Toledo Yacht club when it was last seen near the Detroit river light.

The craft had started in the annual Mills Trophy race Saturday afternoon, and was many hours overdue as a hard northeast wind whipped up Lake Erie waters. Cleveland weather bureau officials predicted calmer conditions.

Excursionists Marooned
About 750 excursionists from Detroit were marooned last night on South Bass island, 50 miles east of here, when the steamer Put-In-Bay broke a propeller and a substitute ship could not be obtained. They were taken aboard the steamer Chippewa early today.

The Put-In-Bay left the passengers on the island Sunday morning and while steaming out of Sandusky struck an obstruction and broke two blades of its propeller. Capt. Victor Brown of the Chippewa, which had been ordered to rescue the 750 from the island, did not think it advisable to sail. Oliver S. Dustin, president of the Ashley & Dustin Steamship Co. of Sandusky, docked at Put-In-Bay, left 50 of its own passengers on Kelley's island temporarily without a way to return to Sandusky.

Other groups were marooned on lake islands. The U. S. coast guard at Marblehead returned 37 Akron sea scouts and Commodore Williams, their leader, to Sandusky from Kelley's island. They went there Saturday in three boats.

Fishermen Rescued
Marooned 24 hours on Johnson's island in Sandusky bay, two Dover fishermen, Don Warner and Leroy Smith, were taken to Marblehead by the coast guard's cutter. Weekend rainfall was measured at Sandusky at 2.81 inches, and at 2.87 inches at Norwalk, 15 miles south. Trees and utility poles were blown down.

A heavy wind, recorded on instruments of the weather bureau at 40 miles an hour, felled trees and damaged communication systems around Vandallia, near Dayton.

Physician Dies
EAST LIVERPOOL, June 27.—Dr. Jesse A. Shafer, 50, physician in West, W. Va., for the last 17 years, died Sunday night after an illness of two years. He leaves two brothers.

Canton in Ruins After Bombing

Wrecked residential district

Death and disaster reigned in the half-deserted city of Canton after Japanese air raids had taken a terrific toll of lives and property. This excellent view of a shattered residential district indicates the extent of the destruction caused by the bombings.

PLAN FUNERAL FOR V.F.W. HEAD

Veterans to Have Charge Of Final Rites For Bert Lesch

Final rites will be conducted at the Stark Memorial at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday and later, at Grandview cemetery, for Bert Lesch, 56, commander of the Allen K. Reynolds post, No. 318, Veterans Foreign Wars, who died in Mercy hospital, Canton, following a heart attack Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Lesch was stricken while marching with other veterans in the V. F. W. state convention parade. He died at 5:30 p. m.

The service at the Memorial will be conducted by V. F. W. Chaplain Fred Snyder and will be followed by a service at Grandview cemetery in charge of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Spanish American War Veterans.

Friends may call any time at the home, 522 West Pershing st.

Mr. Lesch, who served in the Spanish-American war before he was 16, was one of the organizers of the Salem V. F. W. and had served several terms as commander of the post. He served one year in Porto Rico during the war.

He was a member of the Spanish-American War Veterans of Alliance and a member of a fraternal organization of railroad employees, R. R. S. A. He was anticipating his retirement by the railroad this fall.

Mr. Lesch was born in Allegheny county, Pa., Jan. 13, 1882, a son of Henry and Marie Lesch. He had resided here for 22 years. He had been a member of the Sewickley, Pa. police force prior to being employed by the Pennsylvania railroad.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bridget Lesch; four sons and two daughters: Albert, John, Edward, Marie and Edna of Salem and Walter of Youngstown; two brothers, John of Wheeling, W. Va., and Harry of New Castle, Pa., and three grandchildren.

Jury Is Selected For Howell Re-trial
LISBON, June 27.—Selection of a jury for retrial of Pearl Howell of East Liverpool on charges of theft and assault and battery was completed today.

A jury disagreed and was dismissed when the case was first tried in common pleas court here several weeks ago.

The jury for the re-trial includes W. T. Wilson of Salem, William Foster of East Palestine, Lester Whinnery of Winona, Harry Rogers of Lectoria, H. W. Morland of Rogers, Kathleen Kelly of Salineville, Ernest Redmund and Frank Miller of Wellsview, Charles Kelly and J. A. Noble of Lisbon and Gladys McKeever and Kathryn Pierce of East Liverpool.

COLUMBUS, June 27.—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today announced distribution of $930,000 in sales tax revenues for local government purposes to 25 counties. The distribution represents May collections.

Distribution to the 63 other counties was deferred pending adjustments under the law which authorizes the state to withhold these funds to offset sums owing the state.

Today's distribution included: Belmont, $1,050; Columbiana, $5,056; Jefferson, $7,558; Mahoning, $45,887; Stark, $27,268; Trumbull, $2,532.

G.O.P. WILL BACK OWN CANDIDATES
Coalition Tendencies In Many Sections Fading Out

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Organized Republican support of conservative Democrats in this year's elections appeared today to be fading from the realm of political possibilities.

Although keeping the way open for anti-administration Democrats to line up with them, Republican leaders apparently have decided to fight their battles in all states behind their own party candidates.

A month ago coalition tendencies were evident in at least three states—Missouri, Utah and Indiana. Reports circulated in Republican circles here that conservative Democrats seeking election to the senate from those states would be supported aggressively by members of the party normally in opposition.

Situation Changed
But two powerful Republican groups have changed the situation. These are the county officeholders, whose political careers begin and end in the "grass roots," and the party's national leadership as represented by Chairman John Hamilton.

The "grass roots" reaction against coalition developed first in Missouri. Some of the state Republican leaders there had been inclined to back Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, frequent critic of Roosevelt policies, who has strong support for Democratic renomination in August.

Since that time, however, former Gov. Henry S. Caulfield and others have entered the race for the Republican nomination. Demands from the "grass roots" for party unity in the anti and active campaign, in the opinion of Republican leaders here, mean that such Republican support as Clark may get will come from

INFORMAL TALKS BRING HARMONY

Care for Dismissed Employees, Price Cutting Discussed

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 27.—General agreement that many large corporations ought to be broken into smaller ones, it was disclosed today, has developed in the conversations between groups of big businessmen and administration economists.

Prentiss L. Cooney, who left a New York brokerage firm to arrange the informal meetings, said they had produced almost unanimous acceptance of these principles:

1. "Bigness" isn't always efficient, and generally a consolidated business colossus does not earn as much money as its units earned separately.
2. Business must find methods of taking care of dismissed employees more adequately.
3. Cutting prices doesn't always increase the volume of sales, because buyers wait in hope of further concessions.

These, Cooney said, were just a few of the things that brought no argument from either side. It's proof, he declared, that when presumably hostile men get to know each other, they are not nearly as such odds as they had imagined.

The meetings have taken place at the homes of Cooney, an aide to the business advisory council of the commerce department, and Richard C. Patterson, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce.

The guests have ranged from men in their thirties to gray-haired men in their late sixties. First there is dinner, and then conversation—once as late as 3 a. m.

Some of the men sit in shirtsleeves. Seldom is anything put to a vote; everyone merely expresses his opinion in turn. Last Friday night Chairman Edward R. Stettinius of United States Steel and Securities Commissioner Jerome Frank wandered into the garden to swap ideas.

Discuss Monopoly
In some of the discussions, the group has considered phases of the monopoly problem, which is to be investigated by a committee of three senators, three representatives, and six federal officials. The committee will hold its first meeting later this week, and members predicted Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) would be elected chairman.

Senator King (D., Utah), one of the members, reiterated today that the investigation "will not be a witch-burning affair."

"We are not trying to punish anyone, reward anyone, condemn anyone or bless anyone," he said. "The investigation should not further chastize business as has been done. It also should refrain from pushing the Borah-O'Mahoney bill."

Senators O'Mahoney and Borah (R., Idaho) have proposed that companies doing interstate business be incorporated by the federal government instead of by the states.

Signal Barn Burns; Put Loss At $2,000

SIGNAL, June 27.—Struck by lightning during a rainstorm at 9 p. m. Saturday, a barn on the Ray Morris farm near here was burned to the ground by the fire which followed.

A large supply of hay and some farm machinery were destroyed in the blaze. The loss, estimated at $2,000, is partially covered by insurance, Morris said.

Chamberlain Stands Firm, Lashed By Many Critics

Unflinching Before Attack, He Prefers Peace By Bargaining, Rather Than by Force

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, June 27.—Britain's harried Prime Minister Chamberlain, upon whose self-reliant but slender shoulders rests more responsibility for peace in Europe than burdens any other man, doggedly pursues his policy of trying to achieve tranquility by amicable bargaining rather than by force.

Daily he faces his never-ending opposition in commons, white-faced but unflinching before taunts of cowardice and inefficiency. Not even the devastating wizardry of war-time Premier David Lloyd George's nimble tongue can sting the head of government into using the mailed fist on the dictators, or exacting reprisals against the Span-

Samuel H. Robbins, Coal Man, Succumbs

CLEVELAND, June 27.—Samuel H. Robbins, 73, chairman of the Youngstown & Ohio Coal Co., died Saturday of a heart ailment.

A native of Niles, Robbins came to Cleveland 55 years ago and was treasurer of the Osborne & Saeger Coal Co. until it was sold to the Pittsburgh Coal Co. in 1929.

He was in charge of the Cleveland office of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. until 1902 when he and the late Frank M. Osborne formed the Youngstown & Ohio Coal Co.

Kathryn Cessna Is Vocalist At Sorority Rally

Also Plans Broadcast Auditions In New York City

Miss Kathryn Cessna, who was graduated last week from Mount Union college, was featured vocalist at the banquet Sunday night marking the golden anniversary of Delta Delta Delta sorority, held at Swampscott, Mass.

Miss Cessna, a member of the sorority, Mount Union chapter, was selected from sorority members from the entire nation to appear on the program in which professional dancers, violinists and other entertainers appeared.

The banquet was held in connection with the national convention of the sorority. Miss Cessna and several other members attended as representatives of the Mount Union chapter.

Miss Cessna, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. L. D. Cessna, sang the following numbers: "Solos," "Monotone" (Elin Ton) by Peter Corneius, Opus III, Number 3; "Heredad" (Aire de Solome) by Jules Massenet.

Solo with chorus and orchestra accompaniment, "Omnipotence" (Die Altnacht) Opus 79 by Franz Schubert.

Following the convention at Swampscott, Mass., sorority members will hold a post-convention in New York City and then leave for Europe on July 2 for a trip abroad. They will sail on a French ship for several weeks' visit. Four girls from Mount Union chapter will be with the group that goes abroad.

TWO BRITISH SHIPS BOMBED; MANY PERISH

Opposition Mounts To Chamberlain's "Stand-Off" Policy

(By Associated Press)
Spanish insurgent bombings, already having provoked an ominous bedlam of threats and counter-threats, echoed anew in London today and taxed the "realistic" stand-off policy of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Two more British freighters were attacked and set afire in the Spanish government ports of Valencia and Alicante with an undetermined number of casualties—the 58th and 59th assaults on British shipping in the nearly two years of the Spanish war.

Flames which ate through the damaged merchant ships, Arlon and Farnham, added heat to the mounting British opposition to Chamberlain's "realism."

Confronted With Demands
Chamberlain was confronted with clamorous demands in the house of commons that he do something to halt such offenses and quickly. Intent upon "bargaining" with Italy and Germany, insurgent backers, he had refused to retaliate in any way against the insurgent regime.

Diplomatic quarters in Paris and London were inclined to view the Spanish government's threat of aerial reprisals against the insurgents' allies as largely an indirect effort to halt insurgent air raids on government civilian centers.

Some believed the Barcelona regime never seriously considered such a course which, as Italian and German reaction implied, would precipitate general warfare.

LISBON CHURCH WORK PLANNED

Pioneer Catholic Edifice In Lisbon To Be Replaced

LISBON, June 27.—With the completion of plans for the construction of a new Catholic church here, a familiar landmark will be razed to provide a site for the new building.

The present brick church, built in 1887, will be torn down to make way for an English Gothic building. Work will be started within a few days by the Hebing-Gaspard Construction Co. of Cleveland.

The building used at present was the first Catholic church in Lisbon. Prior to its construction members met in private homes and in a room on the site now occupied by the Firestone bank. The original church was classed as a mission until 1919 when it was made a parish.

The bell used for half a century to summon members of the congregation to worship will be installed in the new bell tower.

PROBING DEATH OF BELOIT MAN

Body of David E. Bates, 50, Found Hanging in Barn at His Farm

Coroner D. H. Houser of Mahoning county is investigating today the death of David E. Bates, 50, of R. D. 1, Beloit, whose body was found hanging in the barn at his farm at 3:30 p. m. Sunday by his wife, Carrie.

Relatives and friends said Mr. Bates had enjoyed good health and there was no apparent reason for taking his own life.

Mr. Bates was born at Yeagley's Corners, south of Alliance. He had lived in the vicinity of Beloit for the last five years and formerly worked on the Ingram farm on the Ellsworth rd., north of Salem.

He was a member of the North Georgetown Lutheran church and the Smith grange.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by five sisters, Mrs. Nora Frederick, Mrs. Gertrude Reed, Mrs. L. W. Goodman and Mrs. Norman Herber of Alliance and Mrs. C. L. Ream at Westville lake and two brothers, William B. Bates of Yeagley's Corners and Frederick L. Bates of Alliance.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Cassaday funeral home in Alliance in charge of Rev. Leland H. Goodman, pastor of the Church of Christ of Nelsonville and a nephew of Mr. Bates, and Rev. W. C. McCallum, pastor of the Christian church of Alliance. Burial will be in the Alliance City cemetery.

Friends may call at the Cassaday-Turkule funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday.

NATIONS JOIN IN BEHALF OF HAINAN ISLAND

Commands east approach To French-Indo China

Violation to Bring "Undesirable Complications", Japs Are Told

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, June 27.—Britain and France have warned Japan to stay off Hainan Island, off the south China coast, and will act to support each other in case "complications" arise, the government informed the house of commons today.

Richard Austen Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, made the announcement.

Hainan, Chinese territory, is separated by the 150-mile Gulf of Tonking from French Indo-China and commands the eastern approaches to that colony.

Answering a question whether the British government would support France in regard to the security of Indo-China, Butler replied:

"His majesty's government and the French government, through their ambassadors to Tokyo, have made clear to the Japanese forces and government that they would regard any occupation of Hainan by the Japanese forces as calculated to give rise to undesirable complications."

"Should any complications unfortunately arise, his majesty's government and the French government would no doubt afford each other such support as appears warranted by the circumstances."

NONE INJURED IN 4 ACCIDENTS

"Skids" chiefly responsible For Series of Weekend Traffic Mishaps In District

No one was hurt in four minor traffic mishaps in the district over the weekend.

Cars driven by Charles Moore of Youngstown and Mike Babich of Salem were involved in a collision one-quarter mile south of the city on the Newgarden rd. Sunday morning. State Highway Patrolman R. W. Perry reported that Moore's auto crashed into the rear of Babich's machine when the latter stopped to make a turn into a private drive.

Alfred Harris of Warren escaped injury at 3 p. m. Sunday when the car he was driving skidded on a wet pavement and overturned in a ditch six miles south of Salem on the Salem-Lisbon rd. Harris was on his way to East Liverpool.

Wet pavement also caused a car driven by Mrs. Merle Alexander of Lakewood to skid and crash into an embankment on the Lincoln highway, four miles south of Lisbon at 11 a. m. Sunday. Mrs. Alexander, who was enroute to Toronto to visit relatives, was shaken up but not injured.

The automobiles of Gustave E. Snyder of Wilkesburg, Pa., and Walter Horner of Lisbon collided on the Lincoln highway, one mile west of Lisbon, at 1:20 p. m. Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies, who investigated, said Snyder's machine slid into the rear of Horner's car after the former applied his brakes in an attempt to let Horner make a turn.

MAYBE SOMETHING'LL TURN UP

Ohio's legislature, like the mills of the gods, has been grinding slowly on the relief problem. The solution a conference committee has produced is in keeping with the compromise; it is "exceeding small."

The proposed program for this year appropriating $6,100,000 of state money, to be matched with local funds, fails to meet the situation squarely, though it would take distressed counties off the spot for the time being.

The legislature evidently intends to look only at the present crisis, letting the future take care of itself, instead of trying to find a permanent source of relief funds, which was what it was called into session to do.

The probable outcome is a victory for rural legislators who have been opposing urban demands for a $17,000,000 state appropriation to cover this year's needs. To share in the $6,100,000 proposed grant, cities must match state money and present a local relief organization which will pass muster before a state director of relief.

The legislature again dodges the issue on providing funds for matching, merely allowing cities to mortgage revenue from future tax collections. The entire program is a gamble on the future—a gamble that recovery will come in time to make further action unnecessary.

If business improves, and at the same time the need for funds lessens, the program might prove adequate. Otherwise, the legislature is paving the way for the approach of another relief crisis—one of the best established of all Ohio customs.

VOICING THE DOUBT

Something which didn't happen turned out to be one of the most interesting events of the week of June 19.

On June 20, Minnesota had its primary. When it was all over, commentators still didn't know what it meant. They sensed vaguely that it must mean something (Florida, Pennsylvania and Iowa meant something) but to save their reputations they didn't know what to say.

N. Dakota has its primary on June 28. Nothing happens then till July 12, when Oklahoma is scheduled. The only other primary of importance in July is Texas, on the 23rd.

Possibly, each of these will prove something, but voicing the doubt created by the almost unearthly silence after Minnesota, it's also possible that until the real primary season opens in August the country is going to enjoy an unbroken vacation from interpretations of voting results which probably weren't worth interpreting, or if they were, weren't susceptible of being interpreted in a way that made sense.

SAMPLES

Undeniably, these are days filled with great experiences for business executives under attack by politicians and idealists on one side and stockholders and employees on the other.

If experience is a great teacher, then the executives must be learning something. Here are two samples:

The Thompson Products Co., of Cleveland hired a hall the other night, invited all employees, including those who've been laid off, and told them by word of mouth and charts what has been happening to cash resources, to earnings, to overhead and to the company's prospects in general. When it was all over, there was a dance.

The Johns-Manville Corp., has elected Dr. Walter A. Jessup, president of Carnegie Foundation for Advancement of Teaching, to its board of directors. His job is to interpret the public viewpoint to the other directors, giving them the benefit of his detached judgment.

Thus do businessmen, trying to make sense out of their experiences, seek answers to at least two of the problems posed for them—the confidence of employees, and the confidence of the public.

MANY GOATS, FEW SHEEP

If the following sentence were taken out of every manuscript in which it has appeared in the last few years, the collection would be large enough to fill an old-fashioned county fair balloon with so much hot air it never would come down again:

"We are not approaching dictatorship—we already have it."

This is a pure example of exaggeration to get attention. What we have are some of the circumstances which have preceded dictatorship in other countries. The United States does not have dictatorship, nor can it be said to be approaching it. Why?

Because Americans don't feel like approaching dictatorship. This is the first essential, and the one which alarmists, who think someone's going to sneak up to establish a dictatorship between twilight and breakfast, always overlook.

There can be no absolutism in politics without a sufficient number of two legged sheep to make it worthwhile. This country has a surplus of two legged goats, but no surplus of sheep, as yet.

STATE BALLOT RULE AWAITED

Mahoning Candidates Interested in Relief Provision

YOUNGSTOWN, June 27.—Mahoning county today reached a high pitch in political activity, as an army of more than 1,000 candidates for political offices and precinct posts launched into intensive campaigning.

Among the most interesting provoking developments in the local campaign was the report that new state relief regulations, adopted by the legislature, may ban several candidates from the August primary.

Awaits Signature

Assigned as yet by Governor Martin L. Davey, the measure stipulates that no official engaged in administering or distributing relief shall be an elective officer or candidate for elective office.

Eugene J. Callan, prominent Democratic leader running for the Democratic nomination for state senate, is a relief investigator. Formerly a candidate for sheriff when the Democrats conceded they had no chance, many times a speaker for the state Democratic organization, and a colorful fighter, Callan is waging a vigorous fight for the nomination.

"First of all," he said, "the bill isn't signed yet, so why worry about it. Second, I'm not an official. I'm too busy making votes to bother about petty stuff."

Relief Administrator I. L. Feuer, running for the Democratic nomination for county auditor, indicated he will wait and see what happens before announcing his plans.

No Wisdom To It

Feuer declared he saw little wisdom to the new provision as under present relief rules, an administrator is given practically no discretionary power, all relief work being handled according to sharply defined requirements and laws.

The scheduled arrival of Postmaster James Farley here Tuesday has the regular party organization, under the leadership of Chairman Fred Shurtump, intensely active in preparation for his welcome.

The visit is expected to be utilized by the party regulars, Mark Flanagan, John Vitullo, and Mark Flanagan, John Vitullo, and Shurtump as a means of consolidating their organization.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York City.

RHEUMATISM

A reader recently wrote me to inquire what is meant by "childhood rheumatism." This is a frequently used term to identify rheumatic fever as it attacks children. Rheumatic fever is one of the most dreaded among the diseases of childhood. A recent report relating to the health of New York City indicates that rheumatic fever ranks highest as the cause of death for girls, and for boys is second only to deaths from accidents. Research has determined that 80 per cent of adult heart disease in persons under the age of 40, can be traced to the rheumatic fever suffered during childhood.

Cause Not Known

About one per cent of children of school age have rheumatic heart disease. This fact makes it important for everyone to be familiar with childhood rheumatism. A knowledge of the disease will help to lessen many of its dangers and undoubtedly serve to prevent such unpleasant complications as heart disease.

Although medical science has learned a great deal about this disease, the actual cause of it has not been discovered as yet. It is not contagious and does not spread from one child to another. But it does seem to occur in certain families.

It is most common among underprivileged children, but is also observed in well-to-do families. It is the most prevalent in cities of the northern climate. It is a disease usually met during the early winter and spring months.

As I have said, the actual cause is not known, but it is generally believed to be an infectious disease. By this I mean that it is caused by some germ, perhaps one related to the so-called "streptococcus." But the causative germ has never been determined.

Its Symptoms

The young victim first has fever, loss of weight, and is easily tired. Some children complain of abdominal pain and suffer from twitches of various sorts. Others have joint pains and swellings under the skin. Unfortunately, joint distress in a child is often disregarded as "growing pains." Mothers must be taught that there is a definite reason for any pain. Just what it is must be determined as early as possible.

Several protective measures must be taken at once. The child should be guarded against cold and dampness, and provided sufficient nourishment. Centers of infection, such as enlarged and diseased tonsils and adenoids, as well as diseased teeth, must be given the proper attention. Careful medical care is essential if complications are to be avoided.

UPWARD STEEL MOVEMENT SEEN

Bottom Apparently Reached Two Weeks Ago, Says Magazine

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 27.—An upward movement of moderate degree in the steel market is foreseen by the magazine Steel, in its weekly review today. Whether the current revival portends a continued improvement remains to be seen, but factors underlying the situation argue for the turn from the bottom apparently reached two weeks ago.

Scrap market observers note a rise of $1.50 per ton at Pittsburgh, the leading consuming center, and 50 cents to $1 a ton in the east and west. Buying by steel mills is being reflected immediately in higher prices and discovery that scrap accumulations are not large and holdovers are selling too quickly.

Some steel to complete 1938 automotive models has been placed recently and at least one builder has ordered steel for the first run of 1939 cars. The market expects substantial buying for this purpose within 60 days. Vessel steel requirements are accumulating as shipyards start on work already awarded. Not much is expected from the railroads.

Buying, still held close to current requirement by miscellaneous users who are not ordering for stock, continues at a steady rate and shows increasing breadth.

An increase of one point to 28 per cent in the national steel operating rate last week resulted from increased activity at important centers, somewhat balanced by curtailed rates at some other points. Youngstown gained five points to 32 per cent, Cincinnati 14 points to 32 per cent, and Cleveland eight points to 23 per cent.

Because of strength in scrap quotations at all consuming centers the composite price of steel-making grades advanced 83 cents to $11.46. This was the highest level since late April and the first rise of importance since the closing weeks of January. Influence of scrap components of the iron and steel composite brought an increase of 13 cents to $38.51, the highest since mid-January. The finished steel composite is unchanged at $61.40.

CHINA PREPARES IMPORTANT STRONGHOLD

HANKOW, China.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Far-sighted French and British economic assistance is making it possible for China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to prepare in southwest China an important stronghold from which to carry on the fight against Japan.

By the use of new foreign communications, the generalissimo will be able to carry on the fight, even if his armies are pushed out of the Yangtze valley and away from the last of coastal ports through which have come essential war supplies and through which have gone equally essential payment-balance exports.

Britain Interested

Because British Burma shares a 600-mile border with the Chinese province of Yunnan, Britain long has had a geographical interest in southwest China. But only since the Chinese-Japanese war threatened to deprive China of her completed the 350-mile Chinese section of the motor road which will connect Yunnan with the rail head in northern Burma. Thousands of Chinese coolies are building the roadbed of the trans-Kwangsi rail-road which will link the projected French line at Nanning with the existing Canton-Hankow railroad, at a point in the adjoining province of Yunnan.

Now French bankers are reported ready to finance a rail line from the Indo-China border 125 miles to Nanning, important city in Kwangsi, southwest China province.

Such foreign schemes to short circuit interior China's connection with the China coast would have been opposed bitterly a few years ago. Chinese agitators would have raised the cry of "imperialistic penetration."

Proposals Welcomed

But today both British and French proposals are welcomed, China realizing that it is better to maintain access to her sources of arms and munitions and with foreign buyers of her wood, oil, tungsten and anti-mony through the territories of friendly powers than to lose all contact with the outside world.

Chinese labor, nearly has completed the 350-mile Chinese section of the motor road which will connect Yunnan with the rail head in northern Burma. Thousands of Chinese coolies are building the roadbed of the trans-Kwangsi rail-road which will link the projected French line at Nanning with the

"CONTRABAND" by Dennis Wheatley

CHAPTER XVII

Pellinore Gwaine-Cust stretched out his long legs and regarded Gregory with an approving stare. "And what's the next move?" he asked with sudden briskness.

"Launch," said Gregory. Some of the men got to give us both lunch at the Carlton and I thought it might as well be you."

"Are you certain she's at the Carlton?"

"Yes, I just ascertained from the hotel office that they had an angel named Szentes beneath their roof. She hasn't the least idea that Wells is on her in the first place. I'll go to her in the first place through the fellow she sold the stockings to in Regent street when she was staying there before. You see, she'd never heard of Wells' presence until he presented himself as a business man at her office in Paris. She can't know we've rumbled Quex Park either and that she's Bird told us Lord Gavin engaged her while he was staying at the Carlton in February, which gave us a second line on it being her port of call in London."

"Then she's not expecting you. She may be out."

"I doubt it. She couldn't have been in till about three o'clock this morning so the chances are all against her being up and doing before noon. Anyway, I thought the risk small enough to snatch a few quick sleep."

"I don't quite see, though," Sir Pellinore said after a moment, "where I come in about this lunch business. What the deuce do you expect to drag me into it for?"

Gregory grinned. "For one thing, it might amuse you; but, for another, I can't just go and hang around the Carlton on my own. My plan of campaign is to walk around the corner now and park myself in the lounge, tip a bell hop to keep his eyes open for her, then when she turns up I shall be just surprised and delighted as though I had really run into her usually. I shall immediately inform her I am waiting there for you and that we're lunching together. You'll be in Justerini's next door. You always stock your cellar there so they'll be delighted to see you and refresh you with another ration of this excellent sherry. Immediately after the bell lets me know that Sabine's come down in the lift, he'll slip out the Pall Mall entrance and fish me out of Justerini's. Then you'll stroll gaily in to find me doing my stuff with her in the lounge."

"Conceited young devil," laughed Sir Pellinore. "All right, you win. But what's the procedure, saying a man to get this witch as the luncheon table?"

"You order the best lunch that you can think of, which should be pretty good, and later on you pay it. Then you go off to your club, the house here, for a nice afternoon nap, suitable to a man of your years, leaving me in sole possession of the lady."

"What happens then?"

"Allah, who knows all things, will give me inspiration, but my main policy is to stick to her as long as I possibly can on one excuse or another. Tonight's the seventh and in our now-famous telegram the numbers 43 and 47 follow that date, so presumably they'll be operating again, but from different bases. If I can hang on to Sabine long enough maybe she'll telephone while I'm with her or let slip some little bit of information which will give me a chance to follow her up when I can't keep her with me any longer."

A few moments later the two men left the house and sauntered down Pall Mall together in the bright August sunshine.

It was a little after half past twelve and an inquiry at the hotel office assured Gregory that he had been justified in not hurrying. Sabine was still in her room. He secured a page and, tipping the lad lavishly, gave him his instructions, posting him near the florists within sight of the lift. Then he parked himself at a small table and ordered a double gin fizz which he felt to be a particularly suitable drink in such sultry weather.

Nearly three quarters of an hour went by and he was beginning to fear that Sabine might be lunching quietly in her suite when the page came hurrying along to inform him that she had just come down and was leaving her key. Without losing an instant Gregory strode from the lounge and into the street by the Pall Mall exit, recd round the corner into the Haymarket, and came sauntering gaily into the hotel's other entrance, just as Sabine was about to walk out.

"Hello!" he cried, throwing wide his arms to bar her passage. "What heavenly luck. Is it really you, or am I dreaming things?"

She smiled as he seized her hand and kissed it. "But yes, it is most surprising that we should meet so soon again."

"Not really," he assured her, "since you chance to be in London. It's such a tiny world for people like ourselves who always move around the same old haunts. You are going out—but you mustn't. I can't possibly let you."

Her face grew serious. "You have no reason to detain me, as you had in Deauville." Under her statement lay the suggestion of a suspicion.

"Only the reason that was at the bottom of everything before—my frantic desire to be with you. Come in and have a cocktail."

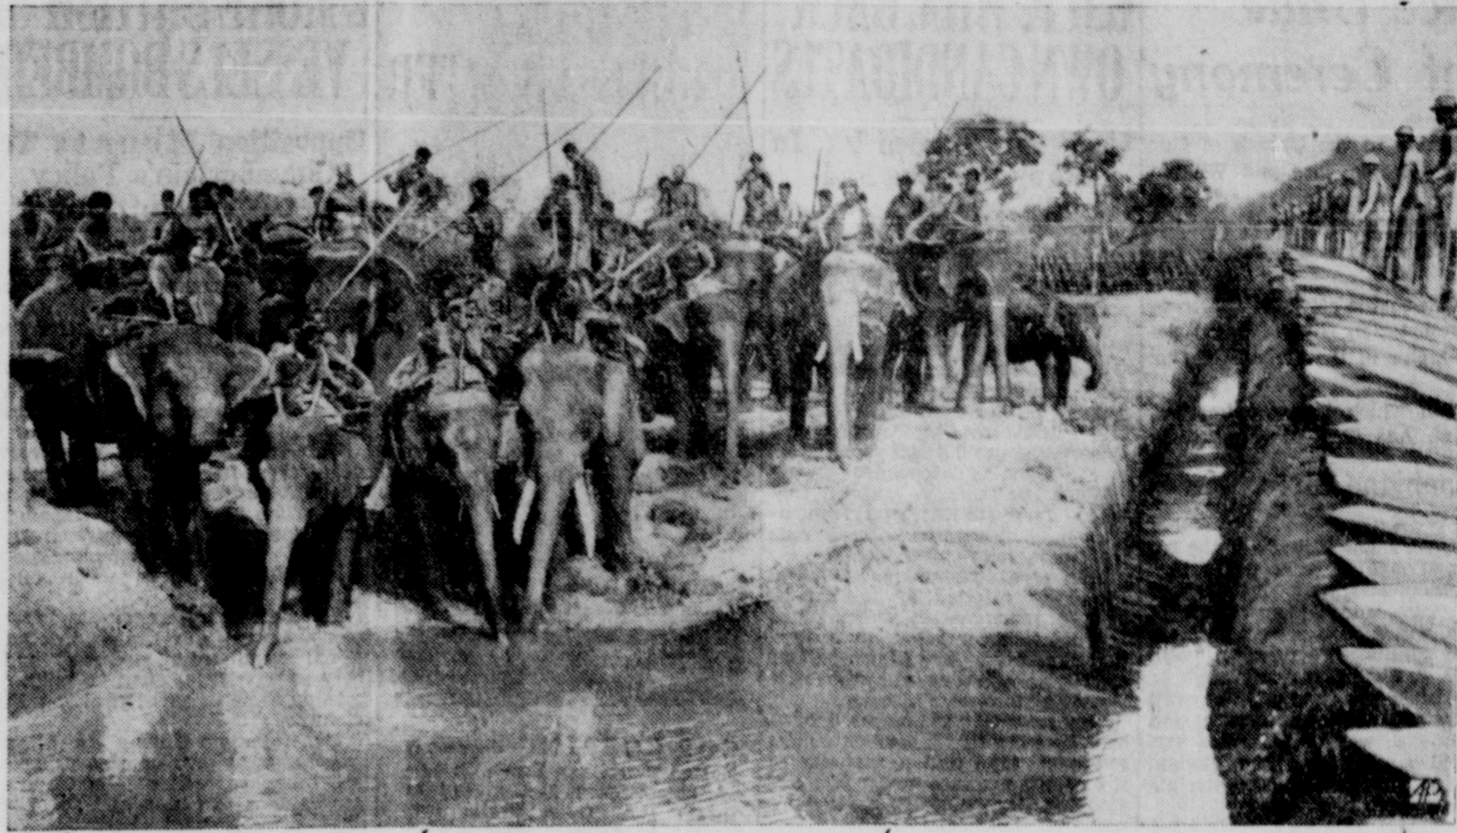

She shook her head. "That would be nice but, really, I must not. I have to lunch at Claridges and I am already late."

"Ring up and put them off—please do. It seems a thousand years since I've seen you but I've been dreaming of you ever since."

a bad thing in a way, but I hope the estates will remain in your family my dear. That beautiful old castle upon the River Theiss which I remember well. I went out to stay there once with your father for the shooting."

"But how interesting," she smiled, "that you should know Schloss Scany. I remember it well, of course, although we had to leave it when I was nine."

"You have lost it then?"

"Yes. All our money went in the deflation and for a little time my mother and I were almost paupers living in a back street in Budapest."

"Your luck's turned since though I gather," Gregory smiled. "How did you come to go into business?"

"It was through an old friend of my mother's. The man whom you saw me with at Deauville. He is very rich and very generous. He was in Budapest in 1922 and he took us out of the slum where we were living, gave my mother a very nice allowance, and sent me to France and England to be educated. We owe him everything, and when he offered me a position in a French firm in which he was interested a few years ago, I was very happy to take it."

Gregory nodded. Philanthropist seemed a strange role for Lord Gavin Fortescue, but obviously the man had decided to invest a fraction of his surplus millions in trying the mother and daughter to him by bonds of gratitude with the idea that the girl would prove useful to him later on.

The lunch proved a cheerful and successful meal. Just before it was over Gregory smiled into Sabine's eyes and said: "Now, what for the afternoon? How would you like me to motor you down to Hampton Court or somewhere we could have tea on the river?"

"I am sorry," she said gravely, "but that is quite impossible. I have my business to attend to. A buyer from one of the big Kensington stores meets me at the Royal Palace Hotel at half past three."

"But I can't let you go so soon," he protested. "How about tea after you've seen this fellow?"

"Yes. That I can manage—if you wish."

"Fine. I'll run you down to the Royal Palace then and pick you up afterwards. Say four o'clock—how would that do?"

"Nicely. I think. My business should not take more than half an hour."

"WE KNOW TOBACCO BECAUSE WE GROW IT—WE SMOKE CAMELS BECAUSE WE KNOW TOBACCO"—TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY

You have to know tobacco to raise the fine grades planter Joe Brewer grows every crop. He says: "Last year my best lot went to Camel. I smoke Camels. Most planters I know do. They know the finer tobacco that go into Camels."

Calvin Wiggins, experienced planter, specializing in raising quality tobacco, says: "The best of my last crop was taken by Camel. They paid top prices. Most growers smoke Camels—we know they're made of costlier tobacco."

"For a better cigarette, I always say smoke finer tobacco," says Leo Mason, who grows the finer grades he speaks of—he's grown them for years. "I've seen the choicer tobacco go to Camel many times. That's why I smoke Camels."

Miss Constance Tice Bride At Candlelight Ceremony

A candlelight ceremony at 8 p. m. Saturday in the Church of Our Saviour united in marriage Miss Constance Virginia Tice and William Campbell Gibson.

The church was illuminated by white candles in the chancel, windows and at the altar. White lilies were used with ferns and palms in the church decorations.

More than 300 relatives and friends of the couple attended the ceremony. Rev. R. D. Walter, pastor of the Presbyterian church, heard the exchange of vows and Rev. Ian Robertson, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, united them in marriage.

Miss Tice wore the lovely wedding gown which her grandmother, Mrs. G. M. Thomas, and her mother, Mrs. Ada Tice, wore at their weddings.

The dress of white satin was made with tight-fitting lace trimmed bodice, long sleeves with lace edging and full skirt, lapped to the waist in the back to form a train. She wore a full veil with halo of orange blossoms and carried white roses, gardenias and lilies of the valley. The veil was worn by Mrs. Robert Campbell, one of Miss Tice's attendants, at the former's wedding.

Miss Katherine A. Gibson, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of light blue crepe with clover pink sash. Mrs. William Tucker, Lancaster, Pa., matron of honor, was dressed in pink crepe with blue sash.

Other attendants, all wearing gowns of similar design in clover pink crepe with blue sashes, were: Mrs. Campbell; Mrs. Cecilia Shriver Barry, New York City, former Salem resident; Miss Ellen E. Pugh and Mrs. Gail W. Graves of New York City. All of the bride's attendants carried bouquets of blue delphinium and wore turbans of pink crepe with pink tulle shoulder yells.

Mrs. Tice, mother of the bride, was crowned in light blue lace, with matching turban of lace, and wore a corsage of Tulle roses and delphinium.

Little Nancy Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Tucker of Lancaster, Pa., was flower girl. She wore a white frock of Kate Greenaway design and carried pink rose petals.

Miss Tice was given in marriage by her brother, Thomas E. Tice. Robert W. Campbell served Mr. Gibson as best man. Ushers were George and Charles Gibson, cousins of Mr. Gibson; Ralph W. Atkinson, Miss Meade Eckstein and Jack B. Bantline of Salem; William B. Tucker of Lancaster, Pa.; and David McConnell of Memphis, Tenn.

Music for the wedding was played by Marion McArthur, church organist. Mr. McArthur's program included: "March Romaine" (Gounod), "Dreams" (Gounod), "Minuet" (Boccherini) and "Oh, Perfect Love" (Barnes). Before the ceremony, "The Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" for the professional; "Improvisation" (Karg-Elert) during the ceremony; and the "Wedding March" (Mendelssohn) afterward.

Dinner for Ceremony
A dinner was served immediately after the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Campbell, 3000 Lincoln ave., for members of the bridal party and immediate families.

The table appointments were given and white with a large centerpiece of white lilies and baby's breath. Several candelabra with white candles completed the table decorations. A three-tier wedding cake was at the bride's place. Eighteen guests were seated at the dinner. The Campbell home was decorated throughout with white lilies and white roses, carrying out the wedding note.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson left Saturday night for New York City. They will sail Wednesday on the S. S. Washington for Europe, a trip they expect to return early in August.

Guests at the wedding included: Mrs. E. P. Everhard and daughter Molly of Hinsdale, Ill.; Mrs. Corrine Tice and son, Robert and Misses Louise and Thalia Strong of Alliance; Mr. and Mrs. William McConnell and daughter Ann of Clarksville, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. David McConnell of Sewickley, Pa.; Mrs. F. B. Luquens of New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. Cecilia Shriver Barry, Miss Ellen E. Pugh and Mrs. Gail W. Graves of New York City; and Mrs. William B. Tucker and daughter Nancy of Lancaster, Pa.; Miss Elizabeth Anderson of Chicago; Rev. Dayton B. Wright of Hudson; Miss Kathryn Carey of Sewickley, Pa.; Stewart Brush, Jr., New York City; Mrs. Charlotte Cadwallader of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Huxley of Youngstown.

Mrs. John Lippert Is Honored
Friends held a birthday surprise party for Mrs. John Lippert at her home on East Fourth st., Saturday evening.

Mrs. Lippert received a number of gifts. Guests playing "500", prizes going to John Reeves and Mrs. Harold Hannay.

Lunch was served at a table decorated with a large birthday cake. Guests included friends from Alliance and Columbiana.

individuals and not from the party organization.

A similar situation, they say, exists in Indiana where Sen. Frederick Van Nuys hopes for some Republican backing. Van Nuys lost the support of the Democratic organization in this state after opposing the Roosevelt court bill last year.

Runs As Independent
When he became certain that he could not win Democratic renomination, he announced he would seek reelection as an independent.

Talk of a coalition movement in Utah was inspired by the candidacy for renomination of Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, a consistent administration supporter. Republican leaders considered choosing a conservative Democrat to oppose Thomas.

This proposal was hampered, however, by a law that a candidate must swear he supported a majority of the party's nominee in the last previous election before he can get his name on a primary ballot.

Chairman Hamilton has emphasized repeatedly the theme that while Republicans would be happy to have the support of anti-administration Democrats, they should not give up their Republicanism.

Hamilton declared in a statement last night that if President Roosevelt "purged" the Democratic party of all of its conservatives and all its "wild men," there will be few left in his party.

The Republican chairman was criticizing the chief executive's Friday night address.

"Since Mr. Roosevelt is intervening in Democratic primary fights as head of the Democratic party," continued Hamilton, "he is not only not as president," "it is to be hoped that the executive of his our next month across the country in behalf of Democrats whose candidacies he favors will be paid by the Democratic national committee and not by the federal treasury."

Search Is Renewed For Body of Youth
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 27. — An army of 350 weary men made a fresh assault today on mile-high storm-swept Sandia peak, hoping somehow to break the five-day mystery surrounding the disappearance of McCormick.

As the fourth day of intensive search dawned, increasing pessimism was evident among the searchers. They battled heights, scorching sun and lightning storms over Sandia in futile hunt for the 21-year-old son of a wealthy publishing family.

The body of Richard Whitmer, McCormick's companion on an ill-fated climbing expedition last Wednesday, was found Friday on rocks under the 2,000-foot sheer face of the peak's topmost cliff, "The Shield."

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, Medill's mother, was with the searching forces again today. She has been at the scene since Thursday.

Dr. Karl Arndt of Denver, member of the Rocky Mountain Climbing club, was dubious that young McCormick's body might be on the cliff.

"Every accessible place on that cliff has been explored," he said, "and we have found no trace of the boy's body."

Roosevelt Signs Wage-Hour Measure
WASHINGTON, June 27. — The wage-hour bill, providing for national regulation of minimum wages and maximum hours in interstate industry, became law today with President Roosevelt's signature.

The White House announced the President had signed this measure along with 130 other bills passed by the last congress.

The wage-hour law fixes a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 44 hours, effective 120 days from Saturday—the date of the President's signature. Other features of the act go into effect at once.

The minimum wage of 25 cents an hour, to which no exceptions will be granted, will be increased to 30 cents an hour the following year. Above that point committees appointed by the administrator for each industry will fix the minimum pay.

HART HEARING STARTS TODAY

Cleveland Gangster To Face Marathon County Jury In Marino Slaying

YOUNGSTOWN, June 27. — A special venire of 75 persons has been called for prospective jury service in the trial of Solly Hart, Cleveland gangster.

Hart, paroled from the Ohio penitentiary, is the third of five indicted men to go on trial for first degree murder in the slaying of Roy (Happy) Marino, local racketeer, last September 9.

The first two to be tried, John Anthonis, Steubenville slot machine king, and Herbert Ross, Cleveland gunman, were convicted by juries here, with mercy recommendations making life imprisonment mandatory.

Judge Erskine Maiden, Jr., will rule on their appeals for new trials after the Hart case is closed. John O'Boyle and Thomas Gullati, also indicted for the Marino murder, still are sought by authorities.

Eddie Heggert, former Steubenville slot machine repairman and mechanic, suit witness for the state, is scheduled to retain this role in the Hart trial.

Attorneys for the state and the defense indicated the testimony and arguments will follow closely the pattern of evidence in the previous two trials.

Ohio WPA Workers Are Scheduled For Jobs On the Farm

COLUMBUS, June 27. — Works Progress Administration laborers in Ohio were headed today for jobs down in the farm belt.

Earl Minderman, special assistant to State Administrator Carl Watson, said that a program of furnishing men to farmers who needed "hired hands" would be carried out over the state.

The National Reemployment Service and the Ohio State Reemployment service, he added, would place the men, who will be paid "prevailing farm wages."

Minderman asserted that men refusing to accept proffered work in the fields would be dropped from the WPA rolls, while those accepting would be restored to the rolls upon completion of their farm jobs.

J. L. Kelly, director of district six of the WPA, declared the plan was launched following protests of farmers that no men could be hired for work in the fields.

The director added that temporary employment offices might be set up in the central Ohio area to handle requests in the event permanent bureaus were not accessible. Offices in District six are located now at Columbus, Marion, Fremont, Springfield, Chillicothe, Newark, Mansfield and Sidney, he said.

Kelly declared that there were more men eligible for WPA work than there were jobs available and that he "hoped" the program of placing them on the farms would increase employment.

Lottery Rackets Work Under Cover

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 27. — Operating under cover, the Ohio valley lottery rackets wrote stock market "numbers" over the weekend despite Mayor Lee Copenhaver's warning that this potter capital will not tolerate the game of chance.

One East Liverpool district manager informed agents that he has "quit," but others continued business with the understanding that writers must pay their own fines if caught in the police net.

Police kept a close watch on beer parlors and poolrooms, where no small part of the trade is solicited, but no arrests were made.

"Insiders" said the lottery business experienced a recession since Friday night, expiration of Mayor Copenhaver's three-day ultimatum, but "numbers" slips were available if the applicant was a regular customer.

raids on the government seaboard, the Spanish war was marked by a halting of the insurgent offensive against Valencia with the attackers themselves on the defensive to hold their gains on the front, about 30 miles from Valencia at the nearest point.

Chinese and Japanese forces were decimated in the Yangtze valley about 200 miles by river from Hankow. The burden of the Japanese campaign was shifted to airmen who carried out extensive bombing operations along the river and in south China.

The Chinese government and Germany, Japan's ally against international Communism, were at odds over an unofficial German military mission which has been aiding the Chinese.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's reluctance to give up this valuable aid brought recall of the German ambassador to China and an order that Gen. Baron Alexander Von Falkenhausen and his staff return immediately under a threat of loss of German citizenship and property.

On the American side of the world authoritative reports in Buenos Aires told of a renewal of hostilities, in minor incidents, between Paraguay and Bolivia in their longstanding Chaco frontier dispute.

Both nations were said to be aiming to the limits of their pocketbooks as they reached a new deadlock in negotiations which halted warfare three years ago.

Kenton Man Named State Moose Chief

AKRON, June 27.—E. B. Wetherill of Kenton was elected state president at the 10th annual state convention of the Loyal Order of Moose here Saturday. Wetherill succeeds John F. Nolan of Steubenville.

Other new officers include Robert C. Kneep of Dayton, vice president; Ralph Bartlett of Columbus, prelate; Lawrence Grove of Cleveland, re-elected secretary for the 10th time; James A. Farrell of Columbus, re-elected treasurer; William Campbell of Cambridge, sergeant at arms; Earl Scott of Niles, inner guard; and Laurel Smith of Ashtabula, outer guard.

J. Jack Stoehr of Cteubenville was re-elected regional director.

Theater Attractions

Not since "A Farewell to Arms," say the critics, has so memorable a love story laid against a background of the post-World war days, come to the screen as in "The Three Comrades" which opened yesterday at the State to show through tonight and Tuesday.

The film version of the Erich Maria Remarque novel has been given a completely satisfactory combination of story, players and director and emerges as a film drama of exceptional qualities.

Back From the War
The story concerns four people, dazed by their experience in a war-torn generation and attempting to find re-habilitation in a new world full of mocking illusions.

With Robert Taylor, Margaret Sullivan, Franchot Tone and Robert Young filling the stellar assignments, and with a supporting cast comprising such fine performers as Guy Kibbee, Lionel Atwill, Henry Hull, Charley Grapewin and Monty Woolley, the picture's characters come vividly to life.

Taylor, fresh from his recent success in "A Yank at Oxford," offers the most distinguished and heart-warming performance of his career as the young World War veteran faced with the necessity of beginning his life anew in an alien world.

Margaret Sullivan is superb as the girl who brings fresh hope to his life, and Tone and Young in simple, expressive portrayals finish off a quartet of brilliant acting jobs.

Face Uncertain Future
The Remarque story describes the experiences of the three comrades as they return from the front to face an uncertain future together in a country gripped by post-war disturbances. Taylor, the youngest, falls in love with Miss Sullivan, and the love affair gives all three comrades a new interest in life.

Margaret Sullivan and Robert Taylor, lovers of the Erich Maria Remarque story, "The Three Comrades," at the State tonight and Tuesday.

Taylor and Miss Sullivan are married and she suffers a serious illness while on their honeymoon. Later, Young is slain in a political riot. When Miss Sullivan faces an operation in a distant sanitarium, Tone sells his proudest possession, a racing car, to raise the funds but Miss Sullivan dies, leaving Taylor and Tone to face the future alone.

Salem Youngsters Are Interested In Dinosaur Stamp Album Collection

COMPLETE BOOK TO BE OFFERED

First of Colorful and Instructive Series Available at Sinclair Stations

William R. Crisenberry, district representative for the Sinclair Refining Co., today announced that one million Sinclair Dinosaur stamp albums and 24 million colorful stamps, a real start toward the complete collection of these interesting and instructive stamps.

All children, if they go to the Sinclair stations with their parents or an adult, will receive absolutely free an album and three stamps, a real start toward the complete collection of these interesting and instructive stamps.

Each week thereafter more stamps of other pre-historic animals will be given until the entire list is given out, which will completely fill the interesting album.

This offer, of course, is good only at Sinclair service stations, so, more than likely, little Johnny and Mary will be directing dad or mother to these familiar service plants for their motor fuel and lubrication.

And it's a fact, says Crisenberry, that once Sinclair products and service are tried, most motorists continue their patronage because they are getting a little more for their money.

Ford Builds 'Weather' Tunnel, Test Tracks

"WEATHER" to order" is the rule at the new "weather" tunnel just completed by Ford Motor Company at Dearborn, Mich. This new testing laboratory, large enough to house a transit bus and equipped to create to order the world's worst weather, in all conceivable combinations, is intended to enable Ford engineers to extend and broaden the company's intensive research in new-car design, thus greatly simplifying the problem of perfecting motor cars to meet all conditions, before they are put on the road. Wind speeds as high as 85 miles an hour, sub-zero cold or scorching heat; rain, snow, sleet, sand or dust storms—even the rarefied air to be found on mountain highways or the dense atmospheric conditions existing below sea level—all are available in the new laboratory, the first of its kind ever built for scientific study of motor car designs. Three test tracks are operating in conjunction with the tunnel, one a concrete banked course for high speed, the other two offering rough roads of every description. Photo shows a Ford V-8, sheathed with ice, under test in the tunnel, with an operator outside at the control table observing the tests. Inset, Henry Ford pushing the switch which started the huge 500-ton refrigerating system.

GOOD GROOMING IS IMPORTANT

For Fresh, Clean Appearance And For Economy, Too, Paris Cleaners Are Unexcelled

Good grooming is not always a matter of wearing expensive clothing nor having a wardrobe that might fill up two or three ordinary rooms.

The individual who has the wherewithal to buy whatever, and whenever, she or he desires, is, indeed, fortunate.

And so, too, for that matter, is the person who, perhaps, may not be so situated economically. The latter still may have perfect grooming and perfectly kept clothing at all times with a service available here such as that through which the Paris Cleaners have made countless friends and built an extensive business in the Salem district.

The summer season is particularly trying inasmuch as clothing is concerned. Perspiration attacks clothing rapidly and readily. Picnics and other similar outdoor events increase the opportunity for spots and stains.

The wearability period is considerably less than, perhaps, at any other period because of these factors. Frequent cleaning and finishing, therefore, are not only essential from the standpoint of good grooming and good appearance but for the sake of the clothing itself.

Economy, the Paris Cleaners point out, is just as important to many people as appearance.

In both cases—economy and appearance—the service of the Paris Cleaners is invaluable. The plant is equipped with the most modern machinery possible and every operation is handled by an experienced workman who follows methods that have been proven.

EVINRUDE HAS VARIED MODELS

Famous Outboard Motor Line Is Complete For Every Purpose And Purpose

Vacation time to the fisherman and all lovers of the outdoors means Evinrude, the famous outboard motor with models for all purposes and purposes.

The E. L. Grate Motor Co., dealer here for Evinrude, suggests a real July 4th holiday weekend, "fishing or cruising your favorite lakes and streams with an Evinrude outboard motor purring smoothly at the stern of your boat."

This year, Grate's points out, it is easier than ever to own one of the many famous Evinrude models, with prices starting at $37.50 for the "Pal."

"The new Elto Pal," says Grate's, "weighs just 14 pounds, the lightest complete outboard in the world, yet every inch a capable, dependable motor for rowboats, canoes, skiffs, dinghies, resort boats and other small craft. It is amazingly economical in operation, running for an hour and a half on only one quart of fuel."

"There are also the Ranger, at 17 pounds, complete with under water silencing 'streamflow' hooded power and other features; the Sportsman, Fisherman and Simplex starter models."

"Never before have there been motors like this—the Evinrude offers everything for greater enjoyment of your hours afloat. It starts like a flash and runs smooth as silk at every speed. Its cruising range is not equalled by any other outboard."

"Drop in and let us show you the Evinrude models."

AN INDEPENDENCE DAY MEAL

As much pleasure for the hostess as it is for guests is this Summer Salad Loaf which is meat, vegetable and salad, all in one. It's truly an "Independence Day Supper," for the hostess who serves it is independent, too—free from the last minute fussing which accompanies the usual party meal.

SUMMER SALAD LOAF

- 2 tablespoons gelatine
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 2 cups tomato soup
- 1 1/2 cups cold meat, diced
- 1 cup peas, drained
- 3 packages cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Soak the gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Heat the soup to the boiling point and dissolve the gelatine in it. Chill until the mixture thickens slightly, then fold in the peas and meat. Pour into a wet loaf pan and chill until firm. Whip the cheese with the mustard and a few drops of milk, to spreading consistency. Unmold the loaf and frost top and sides with the cheese. Garnish with lettuce and cucumber cups, made from the ends of unpeeled cucumbers. With the properly moist, vitalized air of a modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator to keep the loaf from drying out, it may be prepared for serving several hours in advance or even the day before.

Season's Largest Auto Shipment On Its Way From Detroit To Philadelphia Dealer

The season's largest lake shipment of automobiles, filling the freight holds of two D. & C. liners and consisting of Plymouth passenger cars and a baker's dozen commercial cars and trucks, cleared port at Detroit yesterday, addressed to the Thornton-Fuller company, Philadelphia dealers.

The cargo, said to have a retail value well in excess of a million dollars, will be discharged at Buffalo and reloaded on a fleet of trucks for overland transportation to Philadelphia.

While the magnitude of the shipment fills the largest "immediate shipment" order placed by one dealer firm so far this season, Coming on the heels of other indications of increasing car buying, the large order is taken as significant dealer contribution to the return-of-prosperity movement.

SIMMONS GOES STRONG AGAIN WITH BIG BAT

Pounding Pole Is Once More Knocking Cover Off Ball

BY SID FEDER
It's a shame. All those glowing obituaries about the Pounding Pole will have to be torn up. All those pretty words about his two straight American league batting championships; about the way he led the Athletics to three pennants and two world titles; about his records springing all through the book all of the stuff that's been written about the "washed up" old guy will have to go back on the dead hook.

Because the Pounding Pole (Al Simmons is the name) isn't any more washed up than the week's laundry at 4 a. m. Monday morning. That $15,000 price tag "Old Fox" Clark Griffith paid the Tigers for him looks like a bargain at the moment, and that 279 batting average he turned in last year must have been a mistake.

In the 11 games he played during the Senators' trek through the hinterlands, "Assassin Al" batted a mere .375, drove in 24 runs and collected six homers, four of them in the last six games, and two of them in yesterday's doubleheader as the Senators socked the St. Louis Browns 9-1 and 7-2. The second came with the bases loaded.

The double win pushed the Nats up to fourth place in the American league over the Detroit Tigers, who had their ears knocked off, 10-3, by the reviving Yankees. Monte Pearson pitched a six-hitter for the Yanks.

In the latest swing through the circuit in both leagues, not one of the National league's four eastern teams managed to show a .500 average for the home stands, and only the Chicago Cubs of the western set went under that figure among the invaders. The east won 19 and lost 18 games.

The Giants just missed the even-Stephen figures by taking the final game of their series with the Cubs, 5-1, yesterday. King Carl Hubbell came through with the 200th pitching victory of his big league career, the only National league elbow active in the game today in that select set.

In the American league, only the Cleveland Indians, among the four western outfits, managed to go to town during the home stand. The others finished at 500 or less, while the eastern invaders came home with a total of 26 wins against 21 setbacks.

By winning yesterday, the Giants stretched their National league lead to two games over the Cincinnati Reds, who broke even with the Phillies in a twin bill. Homers by Chuck Klein and Phil Weintraub helped the Phils to a 10-3 win in the opener. Harry Craft's four-bagger aided Paul Derringer to an 8-5 Red win in the nightcap.

The Dodgers and Cardinals played to a 1-1 tie before rain washed out in the sixth inning of the first game, what was to have been their doubleheader. Everything else in both leagues was rained out.

SALEM JUNIORS DROP DECISION

Lose to Leetonia Club For Second Defeat In County Play

Suffering their second defeat in Columbiana county play, the Salem American Legion Junior baseball team fell before Leetonia Juniors, 4 to 3, at Centennial park Saturday.

Pitcher Shive of Leetonia held the Salem team to five hits. The local Juniors scored two runs in the first frame and then went blank until the last half of the seventh when they rallied to score one marker.

Leetonia trailed the Salem club until the fifth inning when they tied the score at 2-2. Two additional runs in the sixth frame gave Leetonia the victory.

Marvin Wukotich worked the full distance on the mound for Salem and allowed seven hits. Henry Baisley led the local club in batting with three hits in four trips to the plate.

WINNER PRAISES LOSING GOLFER

Maurice McCarthy Says He's Sorry He Won Ohio Title

COLUMBUS, June 27.—Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., of Cincinnati, holding his third Ohio amateur golf championship, reiterated today that "I'm sorry I won it."

The veteran of the fairways overcame 23-year-old Charles Carl of Ravenna, captain of the Ohio State university golf team, one up in 36 holes on the Scioto Country club course late Saturday after the youthful "dark horse" attended a three-up lead with but eight holes to go.

"That boy has the most nerve and one of the finest short games I have ever seen. He should never have lost that match," said McCarthy, who entered the tourney as defending champion. He also won the title in 1934. Carl, entering the tournament for the first time, got in through a play-off for last place in the field of 32.

McCarthy held the edge on long shots but Carl was blazing in the short ones with remarkable accuracy until he succumbed to a bad case of "jitters" as the match waned.

E. B. Randolph of Dayton, newly elected head of the Ohio Golf association, announced that directors would meet Friday night at Dayton's Miami Valley club in an effort to incorporate the association to handle the annual Ohio amateur.

Breezy Briets Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 27.—Max Schmeling owes Mike Jacobs $40,000 covering advances over a two-year period, and will have to pay every dime of it before returning to Germany. Reason: Mike is among those who believe the German is through with any part of us from now on. It's Washington or California at Poughkeepsie today and you can write your own ticket.

On the night Louis kaybed Schmeling, Negroes from in and around Orange, N. J., paraded in front of Tony Galento's Orange drapery shouting: "Louis for president." Low down on Dizzy Dean's condition due any day now and prescription is likely to be a year's rest.

Oscar Vitt says: "Johnny Allen is hard to handle, but harder to beat." It was a surprise that Babe Phelps of the Dodgers made the National league all-star team. It was an even greater surprise that Hank Leiber was picked. Spokane and other western points wish the New York State Athletic commission would stop dilly-dallying about the light heavyweight situation. Last April it gave John Henry Lewis 15 days to accept a challenge from "Tiger Jack" Fox. To date Lewis hasn't been heard from, and neither has the commission.

Mike Jacobs has Maxie Baer tied to a three-year contract, but they are betting along Broadway Mike doesn't get Baer into the same ring with Joe Louis this year after what Max saw the other night. Baer begins a week's tour of New England today, refereeing boxing and wrestling matches. If Rudy York of the Tigers slams out a homer with the bags loaded again this season he will equal the major league record of four such wallops in one year, held jointly by Frank Schulte of the old Cubs, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Most popular visiting player to visit the Polo Grounds is Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs.

No wonder the umpires miss 'em. Harry Geisel, American league veteran, has it all figured out and estimates the bluecoats have close to 200 chances in each game in which to make mistakes. Three weeks ago the Reds refused to cough up $12,500 for Bob Seeds, the ex-Newark veteran, for whom the desperate Giants laid $25,000 (or more) on the line. The Yanks turned down a $125,000 offer from the Cubs for Charlie Keller, youthful Newark outfielder star.

TOLEDO, June 27.—The Squall, owned by Fred Meno of Detroit, won the annual Merrell B. Mills trophy race yesterday. Webb Hayes, grandson of former President Rutherford B. Hayes, shattered a 30-year-old record of 8 hours, 30 minutes for the 68 mile course by piloting the Saguro in 8:23.50, corrected time without handicap.

COLORED TEAM SPANKS SALEM IN LONG GAME

Negro House of Davids Win Over Motors In Extra Innings

A six-run outburst in the 11th frame gave the nationally-famous Colored House of David an 11 to 5 victory over the Salem Althouse Motors in an extra-inning game at Lake Placid diamond Saturday.

The contest was forced into overtime when the score was deadlocked at 4-4 at the close of the regulation nine innings. The Colored club tallied three times in the first frame and once in the fifth for its four runs during the regulation time, while the Motors pushed over one run in the third frame and three markers in the seventh.

Both teams tallied once in the 10th inning to keep the score tied. The House of Davids then rallied to bring in six runs and sew up the victory.

Failure to hit in the pinches possibly cost the Motors a victory. The Salem club hammered Pitcher Berger of the House of Davids for 11 hits, but left 13 men stranded on the bases.

Orrie Snyder worked ten and one-third innings on the mound for Salem before giving way to Duane Loudon. The House of Davids collected 12 hits from the Salem pitchers.

Featuring the hitting in the contest were two home runs by Stewart of the Colored team and one each by Bob Chappell of Salem and McGee of the House of Davids.

The Motors will practice at Centennial park this evening following softball games in Class A and Class B leagues.

Minors As Tough As Majors Is Claim Of Indians' Hurler

By LARRY HAUCK

CLEVELAND, June 27.—Cleveland's William Henry Zuber, who won 18 games for Zanesville's Middle-Atlantic league club in 1936, said today pitching in the minors was just about as tough as in the American league.

"Up here the hitters are better, but your fielding support is better, the parks are finer and the atmosphere is more conducive to good pitching," declared the rookie whose fastball many observers believe faster than Bob Feller's. "You've got to bear down wherever you're pitching."

If Zuber's philosophy runs true, he should have a brilliant future. In three years in the minors he ran up 24 victories against only 26 defeats. Last year he won 15 games while losing 11 for Milwaukee in the American Association.

His first professional season, spent with Fargo-Moorhead in the Northern (Dakota) league in 1935, found him winning 21 and losing seven.

Zuber, likeable 23-year-old Iowan, is tickled to get his start with a pennant contender in spite of having to crack what perhaps is the best staff in the league. His only wish is that he could pitch more often to improve his control, a bothersome item last year at Milwaukee where he issued 146 bases on balls.

He has gone to the hill 10 times this year in relief roles and on a less formidable staff might have a starting assignment by now. Zuber's home is in Amama, Iowa, one of four towns comprising a German colony. Everyone in the section speaks German.

That gives Bill two problems every year when he reports for spring training: To get his powerful right arm in shape and to learn to speak English again.

HALT OUTLAWS IN GUN BATTLE

Police Kill One, Wound Pal, In Illinois Farm Yard

JOLIET, Ill., June 27.—Two outlaws who terrorized parts of Indiana and Illinois with gunfire and kidnapping reached dead end in a Deselm, Ill., farm yard today, one slain and the other wounded.

Approximately 100 peace officers of the two states were in the kill which climaxed a 20 minute flurry of sharp fighting.

Sheriff John Stack of Kankakee, Ill., said the wounded man identified himself as Orelle J. Easton, 25, of Valley City, N. D., and named his slain companion as his brother, Clarence Easton, 27.

Previously, Illinois State Patrolman Joseph Gromann identified the slain man as Ray Leach and the wounded desperado as James Bleske, or Brekke. Sheriff Stack ordered immediate questioning of the wounded man to determine their identity and the extent of their crimes.

at this moment. For tomorrow is the 24th anniversary of the pistol shot that started the Armageddon which historians call the World War.

By coincidence tomorrow also is the anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Versailles. That was supposed to end the great conflict, but didn't.

The true peace for which Chamberlain and Roosevelt and other statesmen are striving, has evaded us thus far.

There is war in Spain, in Ethiopia, in China. All the great powers and a host of little nations are arming at a rate never dreamed of for countries not actually fighting.

Whether Chamberlain is right or wrong in his policy, he admittedly is showing a vast amount of courage. It would be easier for him to wield the big stick than to refuse.

The prime minister is not only a man of strong convictions but he is possessed of a stability that enables him to withstand being stampeded into rash action. Few British premiers have shown more resistance to strong opposition than is being displayed by Chamberlain.
